

CSB Athletics: Internet Guidelines

Approved by SAAC November, 2006
Approved by CSB Athletic Department November, 2006

These are recommendations for internet accounts for websites as facebook.com and myspace.com as well as blog sites. It is expected that Blazer student-athletes will monitor and follow these approved guidelines

- 1.) Remember that all information appearing in your account (i.e. personal data, photos, text, etc.) will be published to the internet, which can be accessed by anybody with a computer (even people who are not your intended target audience). Assume that all material will be seen by your coach or university president, because there's a chance it might be.
- 2.) Keep personal contact information off the internet (i.e. phone numbers, physical address, dorm rooms, etc.). Update your privacy settings so that profiles and groups are not visible.
- 3.) Always monitor your account photo gallery. Do not include or remove photos with alcohol, nudity, or obscene gestures. Be aware that photos can be altered or tagged by others.
- 4.) Monitor your account postings so not to include derogatory or obscene statements. You are responsible for all content appearing on your page.
5. Positively promote Blazer athletics in your account. Refrain from negatively referencing or discussing issues regarding your team, coaches and/or athletic department.
6. Display good sportsmanship through your account activities by avoiding trash talk or disrespectful comments aimed at opponents.
- 7.) Report any problems or concerns to your captains, SAAC representatives, coaches or athletic department personnel.
